

Pineapple Flat 2010

Two other members, Rob and Tom, and I managed to get up the Wobonga track through mud holes to our first campsite on the Wobonga plateau on the Friday night.

Next morning I returned with Tom through the mud to see if any other club members would brave fantastic sunshine and join us at our meeting place. We enjoyed a good breakfast but nobody turned up so we returned through the mud to the campsite.

During the day we drove up to the Burnt top track and over the ridge track to Pineapple flat. We also tried the King basin track and had a look at the remains of the King basin hut.

We camped in Pineapple flat with a few other city dwellers, but were not cramped at all. We returned via the Burnt top track and then over Sandy creek track to the William Hovell. Very good couple of nights with some good company. You guys missed some fun.
